Hi there!

Welcome to Her Confidant, the only male escort agency for women built on integrity, respect, and genuine human connection at its core. Founded by Anna Grosman, we're dedicated to supporting women's journeys to rediscover their sensual truth with the companionship of skilled, refined, gorgeous, and genuinely good men.

Every encounter is designed to be elegant, safe, and respectful, allowing women to rediscover their sensuality in a consensual, supportive, and judgment-free space.

Bespoke Experiences

Only the very best men pass our rigorous selection process, ensuring each intimate encounter is nothing short of extraordinary.

We work with men who not only share our values but are also successful professionals in their fields.

Each companion is carefully selected for his passion for serving women, possessing a unique blend of skills and charm.

However, they all share one common trait: they are genuinely good-hearted men who find deep satisfaction in providing unparalleled physical and emotional pleasure to others.

Meet Anna

Her Confidant is a testament to the power of genuine human connection. Founded by Anna Grosman, a pioneer in women's empowerment and sexual well-being, our agency aims to eradicate the stigma around women's desires and provide a safe space where they can prioritise their pleasure and intimate needs.

With over 15 years of expertise, including co-founding the successful Aphrodisiac Male Escorts, Anna has supported thousands of women in rediscovering their sensual selves. Her Confidant offers a refined and respectful solution, featuring genuinely good-hearted men who excel in both the sensual arts and their professional careers.

Anna's mission began from a conversation among friends frustrated by the lack of quality options for women seeking intimacy without commitment. Recognising this gap, she dedicated herself to providing a safe, respectful, and elegant solution.

"There is still so much inequality in terms of sexuality and accessing services for sex. Female sex work is one of the oldest professions in existence, yet male escort work—and women accessing this service—are still very stigmatised. Women are more than ever in control of their lives. They make their own money and can choose how they want to spend it. It can either be a LV Bag or a life-changing experience. It's their choice."

Her Confidant takes this mission further, offering refined, respectful, genuinely good-hearted men who excel not only in the sensual arts but also in their professional careers outside the escorting industry.

We believe every woman deserves to explore her sensuality without shame or guilt. We deserve to live life on our own terms, and we are here to support you in making that happen.

"There are no agencies like this one—which provide quality, substance, and a safe, secure option. Women want many things we can provide: to feel passion and to be desired; to feel the human touch; or sometimes, just to be listened to, without it necessarily leading to something physical."

Thank you for joining us on this venture to empower women through amazing companionship.
